1st Monash Interdisciplinary Workshop on Language

Venue

The workshop will take place on the 17th of November 2022, 13:00–17:00, Woodside Building for Technology and Design, Room 102, 20 Exhibition Walk, Clayton.

Program

13:00–13:15 Opening Remarks

13:15–14:00 Talks
Action Translate: Student-delivered translation services for NGOs and community organisations
Margherita Angelucci
Monash and the Language Data Commons of Australia
Simon Musgrave
Auslan Signbank and Corpus (LDaCA)
River Smith
Questions

Ethical considerations in the use of online language assistance tools for EAL academic writing
Elpida Petraki
EAL student comprehension in simulated social work - client interactions
Catherine Cook and Averil Grieve
Tracing self-regulated language learning using Epistemic Network Analysis
Ward Peeters
Questions

14:00–14:15 Break

14:15–15:00 Talks
Implementing a listening app for language learners with the help of Machine Learning and AI
Jessica Chakowa
Service design to support CALD communities accessing ambulance care
Anthony Phuc Le
Linguistic and Cultural Adaptation of Digital Interventions in Low Resource Settings
M Tasdik Hasan
Questions

The impact of language and translation on digital preservation initiatives
Viviane Hessami
Synthesising machine learning, critical thinking, and psychology to counter climate misinformation
John Cook
Text-based game: where language and decision meet
Dongwon Kelvin Ryu
Questions

15:00–15:15 Break

15:15–16:00	Talks

Talks

NLP for uncovering grammar of biological data
Sonika Tyagi and Tyrone Chen
Investigating spoken voice intervention for interpreting students
Vera Gu
Multilingualism and Netflix
Tessa Dwyer
Questions

Sociolinguistics of small-scale multilingualism
Jill Vaughan
Language variation and change: Corpus-based and experimental approaches
Satoshi Nambu
On the Limits of Large Neural Language Models
Ehsan Shareghi
Questions

16:00–16:15   Closing Remarks

16:15–17:00   Social Hour

ORGANIZERS

Ehsan Shareghi   Kalin Stefanov   Jill Vaughan   Satoshi Nambu